

WoAG Travel Advice 2018/09

Subject: Canberra Fog Season 2018

Issue date: 30 April 2018

Dear Entity Travel Manager

As a result of Canberra's fog season, travellers may experience delays in arrivals and departures from Canberra Airport due to visibility issues. Qantas and Virgin have issued information on fog issues, which is available on their respective websites.

In most cases, aircraft that are parked at the airport overnight for flights before 8.00am are able to depart in the morning. Qantas and Virgin have advised that this applies to the following flights:

QANTAS

Canberra → Sydney	QF1424 / QF1510 / QF1464
Canberra → Adelaide	QF713
Canberra → Melbourne	QF795
Canberra → Brisbane	QF1562

Virgin Australia

Canberra → Sydney	VA625
Canberra → Melbourne	VA252
Canberra → Brisbane	VA1207 (Monday only)
Canberra → Brisbane	VA1209 (Tuesday – Friday)
Canberra → Adelaide	VA625 (via Sydney)
Canberra → Adelaide	VA252 (via Melbourne)

During the season, please advise your travellers to check the status of their flights with the relevant airline before heading to the airport. If business travel is critical, it may be worthwhile for travellers to fly out the night prior to avoid potential delays.

Travellers should also be aware that fog can affect Brisbane, Adelaide and Melbourne airports.

The information contained in this Advice was correct at the time of writing but may be subject to change.

Please contact the WoAG Travel team if you have any questions or require further information.